

NatureAir™

Carbon Emissions Program - By name and by nature, NatureAir is committed to being the world's first and only zero emissions airline. As airlines and their engines are a source of carbon emissions into the atmosphere, we have implemented a year long analysis of our carbon emissions for each route and aircraft. NatureAir has chosen two sustainable programs in Costa Rica which provide clean energy through solar and wind farms; by January 2006 we plan to offer a completely zero emission flight for all our passengers.