

Acknowledgements

The authors would like to acknowledge the following experts, scientists and specialists, as well as their affiliated institutions from the riparian countries of the Mekong River Basin, who have significantly contributed to the preparation of this report:

Chaiyuth Suksri and David Coates, Mekong River Commission; David Jezeff, United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UNESCAP); Hans Friederich, The World Conservation Union (IUCN); Ian Campbell, Mekong River Commission; Ing Try, Department of Fisheries, Cambodia; John Dore, World Resources Institute (WRI); Le Huu Ti, United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UNESCAP); Le Quang Minh, Can Tho University, Vietnam; Li

Ge, Ministry of Water Resources, China; Nicholaas van Zalinge, Mekong River Commission, Cambodia; Sansanee Choowaew, Mahidol University, Thailand; Sein Mya, Mekong River Commission; Somrudee Nicro, Thailand Environmental Institute; Thavivongse Sriburi, Chulalongkorn University, Thailand; Wijarn Simachaya, Pollution Control Department, Thailand; and Ruud Corsel, Mekong River Commission.

The authors are also grateful to the Global International Waters Assessment (GIWA) of the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) for their financial and technical support in conducting the assessment of the Mekong River Basin and in the preparation of this report.