UNEP's flagship assessment is the Global Environment Outlook (GEO), produced in cooperation with a network of national, subregional, regional and global partners. These partners feed into the GEO process and into other assessments including the Global International Waters Assessment and the Millennium Ecosystems Assessment.

UNEP helps governments to anticipate, respond to and manage disasters caused by environmental factors, or which have profound effects on the environment.

UNEP also assesses the environmental consequences of armed conflict, and provides post-conflict clean-up and mitigation guidance.
