

© Anderson/UNEP / S&P Pictures

Integrating economic development and environmental protection

UNEP encourages decision makers in government, industry and business to develop and adopt environmentally sound policies, strategies, practices and technologies. This involves raising awareness, building international consensus, developing codes of practice and economic instruments, strengthening capabilities, exchanging information and initiating demonstration projects.

UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT PROGRAMME

www.unep.org

