

melting ice a hot topic?

ask an engineer

Widespread melting of permafrost in Alaska and Siberia is causing serious damage to buildings, pipelines, roads and other infrastructure. Climate change means shorter ice seasons for traveling on winter roads, and warmer and less predictable weather, causing more forest fires in some regions.

UNEP

United Nations Environment Programme
www.unep.org/wed/2007