

Argentina. VIII Seminar "Global Climate Change" .National University of Santiago del Estero (UNSE) – Santiago del Estero - Argentina 5 June 2008

- Event description: A one-day long seminar was organized by the authorities of the School of Forest Science of the University of Santiago del Estero to mark both, the launch of their latest publication "Environmental Changes and Problems; Guidelines for action" and the World Environment Day 2009. The Seminar's topic was "Global Climate Change", and it was attended by UNIC's Information Assistant, who delivered a 30 minute lecture the "UN and climate change: United to combat climate change" –

This was the 8th edition of the annual seminar held by the University of Santiago del Estero (a northern province of Argentina) to mark WED. Attended by over 200 people (which included, among others, government representatives, scientists, teachers, students, and NGOs representatives), the event received extensive coverage by the local media.

UNIC Buenos Aires was responsible for a chapter on the aforementioned publication which was also forwarded by UNIC Buenos Aires Director.
